Java developer (m/f), full-time
and a lot of exciting tasks

We are looking for a creative Java developer to reinforce our team in Vienna and surrounding area, the beautiful Viennese Woods. You will develop products with our application framework „m2n Intelligence Management" and/or develop the framework further. You can expect an optimal working environment, creative leeway and interesting assignments in the fields of visualization, information retrieval, model based application development, data harmonization and semantics.

m2n - consulting & development gmbh is an Austrian research and development company which focuses on cutting-edge technologies in the fields of model based application development and knowledge discovery. We implement innovative solutions for our customers in the public sector and industry in the context of R&D projects and in close cooperation with our national and international partners.

Your skills and qualification:

- You hold a BSc or MSc in computer science (or equivalent)
- You bring excellent knowledge of object oriented Java software engineering
- You are experienced in the field of relational databases and interested in semantic technologies, search/retrieval and knowledge discovery
- You perform independent and proactive
- Thinking outside the box and innovation are important to you
- You like solving complex assignments and are open for creative concepts
- You are a team player and bring the ability to assert yourself
- You are fluent in either German or English

Your tasks:

- You are responsible for the design, (further) development, quality assurance and documentation of software components of the "m2n Intelligence Management" framework.
- You customize our product in cooperation with our national and international customers and partners to support their needs.

We offer:

- Varying and challenging tasks in a young and dynamic team
- Exciting assignments in cutting-edge fields and creative leeway
- Work on national and international client and research projects
- An optimal working environment with freedom for individual development; in Vienna at the CodeFarm – which comes with a pool and a park
- Optional university level research and/or PhD possibilities
- Self-determined, flexible working hours
- Payment according to Austria's collective agreement for IT and your skills

We support you in any administrative issues, apartment-hunting and your relocation to Austria. The m2n-family is looking forward to meeting you in the beautiful Vienna Woods!

Interested? Send your application per mail to:

office@m2n.at, +43 660/7119872, m2n – consulting and development gmbh